Why timing matters

This is a long-acting injection. It works by holding a steady level of medication in your body between visits.

A late injection lets that level fall, so keeping your next date is what keeps the medication working the way it should.

What you may notice

- Follow the oral medication plan from your clinician. Do not stop or change a medicine unless they tell you to.

Caring for your injection site

Soreness, redness, or a small firm lump in the arm is normal for a few days. A cool pack helps.

Do not rub or massage the site - rubbing can change how the medication is absorbed.

Go easy on heavy lifting and overhead work with that arm for the rest of today.

Call the clinic at (909) 887-6222 if

- Pain, swelling, warmth, drainage, or a rash at the injection site gets worse.
- You cannot make your due date - call before that day, not after.
- Anything feels unusual or worries you.

Call 911 now or go to the nearest emergency room if

- Trouble breathing, chest tightness, or severe dizziness.
- Swelling of the face, lips, tongue, or throat.
- High fever with muscle stiffness, confusion, or a racing heartbeat.
