Why timing matters

This medication is released slowly out of the muscle over the weeks between injections, keeping a steady level in your body.

Your provider sets the exact interval for you, so keep the date you were given even if it is not a neat calendar month.

What you may notice

- Follow the oral medication plan from your clinician. Do not stop or change a medicine unless they tell you to.
- Mild drowsiness or restlessness can happen in the first few days.
- Get up slowly from sitting or lying down for the first day or two.

Caring for your injection site

Soreness, redness, or a small firm lump in the arm is normal for a few days. A cool pack helps.

Do not rub or massage the site - rubbing can change how the medication is absorbed.

Go easy on heavy lifting and overhead work with that arm for the rest of today.

Call the clinic at (909) 887-6222 if

- You develop new stiffness, tremor, or unusual movements you have not had before.
- You feel very restless and cannot sit still.
- Pain, swelling, warmth, drainage, or a rash at the injection site gets worse.
- You cannot come within the clinic-confirmed 3-day window, or need to change your visit.
- Anything feels unusual or worries you.

Call 911 now or go to the nearest emergency room if

- Trouble breathing, chest tightness, or severe dizziness.
- Swelling of the face, lips, tongue, or throat.
- High fever with muscle stiffness, confusion, or a racing heartbeat.
